MARRY JANE FROM STUDENT TO TEACHER

Hello, my name is Marry Jane.

I was a student at Mango Tree House where they supported me for fifteen years until I graduated Bachelor in Elementary Education. At the moment, I am now working as Assistant Teacher at Cashew.

Being able to see one of my dreams come true was an honour and such a blessing not only for me but also for my family. Without your help, I would not be able to accomplish what I am now experiencing this time.

I am really grateful that I was given the chance to work as an Assistant Teacher at Cashew. It was not an easy road to walk through. I have failed and experienced disappointments before, but I always considered these setbacks to be a necessary part of the learning process. After all, success isn't everything in life; failure is also a part of it.

It is a blessing for me to have a mentor like teacher Lyn. She taught me everything she knew. Including all of her tactics. When I was in high school, I recall being terrified of having my work critiqued by my teacher. But now that I've accepted it, I'm working to develop myself despite whatever they have to say about my job. Here I am today, I'm in charge of the afternoon class as their teacher. Yes, I'm excited to be a teacher for the upcoming academic year.

Thank you to all the sponsors and supporters who have made my dream become a reality.

Give As You Live

Unfortunately Amazon has closed down Amazon Smile which was the scheme whereby Amazon donated 0.5% of sales value to Children of the Dump- we had raised nearly £1,000 since it started.

But you can use Give As You Live at over 6,000 online stores and it costs you nothing but raises money for Children of the Dump. Shop via the Give as You Live website, app or (even better) install the Reminder button on your phone or computer and the retailer will donate a percentage of sale value.
