Education and Development

Chandler Jasiah is a bright and curious 4-year-old currently attending the Cashew Tree Programme. He is already showing strong early learning skills, including recognising colours and letters and beginning to write some of them. His love of learning is evident in his enthusiasm for new activities.

How Sponsorship Helps

Sponsorship will support Chandler's early education at Cashew Tree, providing access to structured learning, educational materials, nutritious meals, and a safe environment where he can continue developing essential skills during these formative years.

Family Background

Chandler lives with his parents and four siblings in Payatas, Quezon City. His mother earns a small income making pillows, while his father sells foam. Despite very limited and irregular income, the family places a high value on education and works hard to support their children's learning.

Personality and Interests

Chandler has a fun, energetic, and cheerful personality. He enjoys playing with his siblings, learning new things, and interacting with others. His favourite snacks are fries and fruits, and he is always eager to explore and try new activities.
