

The Coles-Medlock Foundation

The Coles-Medlock Foundation is a family-run grant-making charity based in Bath, founded by Bath businessman and philanthropist David Medlock and his wife Jacky to extend the family's charitable giving to overseas projects where the need for aid and sustainable development is greatest.

The Foundation focuses on alleviating poverty and hardship by supporting charitable projects across the developing world, working with UK-registered charities and their international partners. Its funding prioritises sustainable development across key areas including education, healthcare, food provision, infrastructure, and independent financial progress.

The Coles-Medlock Foundation has also been a leading supporter of match-funding through the Big Give Christmas Challenge, serving as a Big Give Champion and providing match funding to amplify donations across the sector.

For Children of the Dump, their support through the Big Give has been truly invaluable. By championing the campaign and enabling donations to be doubled through match funding during Big Give week, they have helped unlock vital income that strengthens education, care, and opportunity for children and families living in extreme poverty in Manila.
